Barazas in Tororo and Gulu give stakeholders an open voice

A participant at the Tororo Procurement Baraza shares challenges faced by providers

On Friday 19th September, the Public Procurement & Disposal of Public Assets Authority (PPDA) held its first ever Public Procurement Baraza bringing together public officials, civil society, business firms, media and the public. The open forum held at Sofitel

Hotel in Tororo Municipality was attended by over 200 participants. While opening the baraza, Sarah Opendi, the State Minister for Primary Health, thanked the Public Procurement & Disposal of Public Assets Authority (PPDA) for the initiative to publicly discuss challenges in public procurement in Tororo. In their presentation, members of the civil society, led by the Uganda Debt Network and the Coalition Against Corruption (Tororo) brought to the front projects that had been funded but were never done or completed.

PPDA issues new C. Govt guidelines

Entities and accounting officers are expected to carry out due diligence on bidders and their bids during the public procurement and disposal process.

This is to protect Government from fraud and ensure that there is value for public money being spent.

The emphasis on due diligence is included among the guidelines that the Public Procurement and Disposal of Public Assets Authority (PPDA) has issued to support the public

Gulu and Tororo Procurement Barazar- what you missed

Executive Director's Message

The Authority recently completed a new five-year strategic plan. The plan is ambitious as it seeks to take services closer to the people; promote accountability and actively contribute to development of Uganda. In short, it takes us to a higher level of doing public business.

The people in Tororo and Gulu districts and municipalities have already gotten a taste of this. In September we held our first Procurement Baraza in Tororo, and later another in Gulu. The Procurement Baraza is an open discussion forum where different stakeholders discuss the entity procurement and disposal work plan and implementation of Government programmes.

From now on, you will be seeing more of these barazas as PPDA empowers communities to demand for more accountability in public procurement. We encourage you to participate whenever our teams come to your locality.

And at regional level, the Authority together with other regulators are working together to build a harmonious working environment in public procurement. This year the Public Procurement Oversight Authority (PPOA) of Kenya is holding the East African Procurement Forum (EAPF) in Nairobi from 12-14 November. The forum, which is in its 7th Edition, brings together private and public sector procurement specialists to share knowledge and best practices to build the profession in the EAC. For those planning to attend, contact the coordinator at PPDA through email: info@ppda.go.ug.

Finally and perhaps most importantly, in line with our new strategic plan, we have updated our vision and mission:

Vision: A centre of excellence for regulation of public procurement and disposal.

Mission: To promote the achievement of value for money in public procurement so as to contribute to National development

On behalf of the board, management and staff of PPDA, I wish you and every Ugandan a very successful 52nd year since Independence!

Cornelia K. Sabiiti
Executive Director

from the Editor

The last quarter has literally been spent on wheels, feet, halls and file upon procurement file as PPDA staff traversed the country carrying out procurement audits and training.

And this work is not in vain. The 2013/14 procurement audit report reveals best performers from surprising quarters. You will be surprised to see the entity with top marks under public procurement.

Also, to support and improve procurement, the Authority has issued new guidelines for central government entities. This issue of the procurement digest highlights the guidelines but you can freely download from the PPDA website ppda.go.ug. You will also find there several other reports and resources to support your work at both local and central government level, and for the general use. The Authority is working with the Ministry of Local Government to develop guides for local government entities.

Away from the reports, there is so much to celebrate. PPDA congratulates the Uganda Police Force on marking the 100+ years of service. As partners in the fight against fraud and corruption, we support the "Criminal Case Management Rectification Campaign". We believe this campaign that was launched by the Criminal Investigations and Intelligence Directorate (CIID) will enhance our efforts in promoting accountability and value for money in public procurement.

Happy reading and for all things public procurement, send us an email: info@ppda.go.ug

Appeals Tribunal throws out Akaaba Enterprise case against PPDA

POOR ROADS: Failure to get the right construction firms leads to poor service delivery

Akaaba was appealing to the Appeals Tribunal which is an independent and autonomous body not part of PPDA.

The genesis of the case began in April 2013 when Akaaba Enterprises Ltd submitted a bid in the procurement of community access roads under the Community Agricultural Infrastructure Improvement Programme- Project 3 (CAIIP-3). The project, initiated and advertised by the Ministry of Local Government, was covering 21 district local governments.

Later in October that same year, the Permanent Secretary (PS), Ministry of Local Government, informed the Chief Administrative Officers (CAOs) at the districts that forgeries had been detected in a number of bids submitted by the construction firms. In his letter, the PS directed the CAOs to further examine the forgery issues and proceed with submissions to PPDA for suspension of the affected firms.

When PPDA received a letter in November from Oyam District Local Government recommending a number of firms to be blacklisted, it realized there was something amiss.

Apart from Oyam, the other 20 participating districts made no submission of the forgeries. This was against the directive of the PS at the coordinating ministry.

It was then that PPDA wrote the Ministry of Local Government advising it to request all the affected local governments to submit all the bids and relevant documents to the Ministry, which would then hand them over to PPDA.

The Ministry's submission revealed that forgeries were found in 21 district local governments. Among these was Kole District. Akaaba Enterprise was one of the firms listed as having forged two certificates of completion which had been attached in their bid to Kole District.

The following investigations by PPDA led to the suspension of Akaaba in September 2014. Akaaba contested this suspension taking the case to the PPDA Appeals Tribunal.

In the Tribunal ruling, Ms. Olive Zaale Otete, the Chairperson, agreed with the Authority that the uttering of false documents is completely at variance with the basic principles and ethics of public procurement and disposal. It was found that Akaaba's defence of lack of a fair hearing as not sufficient.

According to communications and other documents, PPDA had written to Akaaba, whose counsel had attended a hearing and even submitted a written defense.

Akaaba did not dispute that the Authority by its letter dated 29th July 2014, invited them to submit a defence and to attend a hearing on 8th August 2014.

PPDA also forwarded documents to the Applicant to enable preparation of a defence, a fact Akaaba's counsel did not dispute.

Akaaba also argued that the bid had expired by the time of the probe, and that therefore the alleged forged certificate should not have been probed 'since there was no bid'.

The Tribunal noted that in procurement, certificates of completion are usually attached to bids by providers to show evidence of experience in similar works, which in this case were allegedly forged. The certificate does not therefore expire with a bid.

Citing an earlier court case, the Tribunal observed that "a court of law cannot sanction what is illegal and an illegality once brought to the attention of court overrides all questions of pleading".

The Tribunal was satisfied that having forged two completion certificates, and having failed to rebut the forgery allegations, the suspension of Akaaba Enterprises from participating in public procurement and disposal for three years was appropriate.

The Tribunal awarded costs of this application to PPDA amounting to UGX2 million.

Seating on the Appeals Tribunal are Ms. Olive Zaale Otete the Chairperson, and members Mr. Moses Jurua Adriko, Mr. David Kabateraine, Architect Joel Kateregga and Mr. Abraham Nkata, a procurement expert.

Have your say- its time to demand for accountability in public procurement

Among their findings were cases of supply and installation of a non-functional rice mill in Poyameri, a contractor abandoning site at Kiyeyi Primary School, and failure to open the 3.8km of roads in Nagongera Town Council.

Jacob Oboth, Budama South Member of Parliament, said he found the report disheartening and called on the local leaders and public servants to work with their stakeholders to fix the problems in the district.

A week later, the PPDA Training and Capacity Building team were in Gulu in Northern Uganda for another Procurement Baraza. On 26 September, PPDA had a meeting at Olango Conference Hall in Gulu Municipality.

Among the participants were Mrs. Aol Betty Ocan (Woman Representative - Gulu District), Regan Okumu (Aswa County), Mr Andrew Moses Awany, the Gulu Deputy Resident District Commissioner (RDC), Gulu Municipality Accounting Officer Magoola, members of the district Public Accounts Committee led by their chairman, and other stakeholders.

Addressing the participants, Member of Parliament Betty Ocan, called on all stakeholders in public procurement to do the kind of work that benefits the tax payers. She also added that accountability structures and institutions must be strengthened.

"We need to strengthen structures and institutions that will make people account and maintain transparency. Your conscious should disturb you if you do something wrong. On Sunday we go to worship only to do the contrary on Monday. Are you leaving a good legacy that people will remember?" MP Betty Ocan

Participants discussed a long range of issues such as the district procurement work plan and understanding how and when the planned government activities were implemented.

The residents were also told that the district and the municipal council are mandated by the law to display their procurement plans in open spaces to

Hon. Sarah Opendi, State Minister for Primary Health, on the spot with the media at the Tororo Procurement Baraza foster transparency, accountability and the monitoring of projects.

One of the participants, challenged Ugandans to move away from the defeatist mentality.

"We Ugandans should move away from that defeatist mentality. We should take individual responsibility for our actions--participant in Procurement Baraza in Gulu," he said.

This is one of the requirements spelt out in the amended PPDA Act and Regulations came in force in March 2014.

"Through the procurement barazas, we hope the stakeholders will get the relevant knowledge and be empowered to monitor Government projects," said Milton Tumutegyeize, the Director for Training & Capacity Building at PPDA.

"Sometimes, people don't even know what is on the work plan of the district and so will not know when there is no service delivery."

Reagan Okumu (MP Aswa) thanked the Authority for its move to spread its wings around the country.

"In spite of the challenges PPDA faces, I would like to thank them for decentralising to different regions," MP Okumu said.

PPDA will soon be opening an office in Gulu as the Authority takes services closer to the entities.

Kenya hosting annual EAPF 2014 in Nov

“Promoting Sustainable Socio-economic Development through Public Procurement”

Maurice J.O. Juma, Director-General of the Public Procurement Oversight Authority (PPOA) of Kenya faces Uganda press

Preparation for the 7th East Africa Procurement Forum (EAPF) to be held in Nairobi from 19th – 21st November are in high gear. This annual forum for procurement specialists and stakeholders builds on the very successful event held in Kampala in 2013.

Running under the theme “Promoting Sustainable Socio-economic Development through Public Procurement” the forum expects to attract participants from the East Africa Community and beyond.

Kenya’s Public Procurement Oversight Authority (PPOA) is organizing the 7th EAPF which is hosted on a rotational basis by the Public Procurement Regulatory Authorities of the East African Community.

Last year’s forum saw over 250 delegates from Burundi, Kenya, Rwanda, Tanzania, and Uganda merge in Kampala. Delegates from Botswana, Ethiopia, and Nigeria also attended.

This number will grow as the forum attracts participants from the public and private sectors, civil society, professional bodies, the donor community, civil society and education/training institutions, and the media among others.

On regional platform, EAPF has been at the forefront of the EAC integration by bringing together the different procurement regulators to share best practices, share knowledge and harmonize their systems.

The Forum has promised to come in strong to ensure that the EAC public procurement systems are running efficiently and effectively.

EAPF also presents an occasion to develop ideas on how stakeholders can support and contribute to an effective public procurement system.

More, the Forum serves as a framework that helps delegates learn and benchmark with each other on their respective public procurement systems including policies and enforcement measures.

Over 400 delegates from the East African sub-region and beyond are expected to attend the EAPF Nairobi 2014.

In Uganda, PPDA is coordinating the participation of Ugandan delegation. Interested delegates wishing to participate are requested to register with PPDA through email info@ppda.go.ug or call on tel: 041 4311110.

EAPF 2013 presentations can be found on the PPDA website at: www.ppda.go.ug/eapf2013

New guidelines for Central Government entities

procurement process in entities.

Under Section 97 of the PPDA Act, 2003 the Authority is mandated to issue guidelines for the better carrying out the objectives of and functions under the PPDA Act.

One of the other guidelines spells out what entities are to do under the pre-qualification of public works. To come up with a shortlist of bidders, an entity may use pre-qualification under open domestic or open international bidding methods.

However, to achieve this, the procurement and disposal unit shall make a submission to the Contracts Committee to use pre-qualification under Rules and Methods for Procurement of Supplies, Works and Non-Consultancy Services Regulations, 2014.

The public is hereby notified that the Uganda Government through PPDA has issued the following Guidelines 2014 which came into force 1st September 2014:

1. Guideline No. 9/2014 on pre-qualification of works.
2. Guideline No. 10/2014 on framework contracts.
3. Guideline No. 11/2014 on guidance on fees for registration on the Register of Providers.
4. Guideline No. 12/2014 on preparing responsive bids.
5. Guideline No. 13/2014 on carrying out due diligence by PDEs.

Mr. Keith Muhakanizi, Secretary to the Treasury, has issued a circular to accounting officers about due diligence

Why you must learn Kiswahili

Cris Magoba
PPRO MEACA

As the EAC integration process continues to take hold, Ugandans, especially the business community are realising that the need to learn Kiswahili has never been more pertinent.

The integration has progressively moved from the signing of the EAC Treaty in 1999 to the Customs Union which came into effect 2005, the Common Market protocol effective July 2010 and the Monetary Union protocol signed November 2013.

These protocols and most notably the Common Market Protocol have created opportunities for East African citizens. The common market protocol provides for:

- Free Movement of Goods
- Free Movement of Persons
- Free Movement of Labour
- The Right of Establishment
- The Right of Residence
- Free Movement of Services
- Free Movement of Capital

In spite of all these landmarks however, many Ugandans have not fully benefited because of the language problem. For historical and geographical reasons very few Ugandans (unlike our counterparts in the EAC), understand Kiswahili.

Many business persons fail to optimally benefit from EAC integration due to lack of proficiency in Kiswahili. It is a non-tariff barrier of some sort.

According to Article 137 of the EAC Treaty, the official language of the Community is English. The treaty also provides that Kiswahili shall be developed as a Lingua Franca of the Community.

It is in this context that the Ministry of EAC affairs is conducting free training sessions for Kiswahili. Additionally, we (Uganda) have ratified the protocol on establishment of the Kiswahili Commission whose aims are to:

- Enhance political, economic and social unity within the East African Community;
- Encourage and develop mutually beneficial collaboration between Member Kiswahili Councils, and Governments and other organizations, both public and private.

However the long term solution for teaching Swahili is that the National Curriculum Development Centre (NCDC) under the Ministry of Education and Sports has already prepared the curriculum for both primary and secondary schools.

Our appeal to all Ugandans as a Ministry is that the Kiswahili initiative should be embraced by all foresighted persons.

*Jumuiya Yetu sote tuilinde

1. Ee Mungu twaomba ulinde
Jumuiya Afrika Mashariki
Tuwezeshe kuishi kwa amani
Tutimize na malengo yetu.
2. Uzalendo pia mshikamano
Viwe msingi wa Umoja wetu
Natulinde Uhuru na Amani

3. Viwandani na hata mashambani
Tufanye kazi sote kwa makini

Malawi procurement regulator on study tour

Milton Tumutegereize, Director Training and Capacity Building at PPDA, shares experiences with counterparts from Malawi

The Public Procurement & Disposal of Public Assets Authority (PPDA) is becoming a major stop for public procurement specialists and regulators in Africa. A team from Malawi recently called on a study tour following on the heels of teams from Kenya and Ghana.

Malawi’s Office of the Director of Public Procurement (ODPP) sent a delegation of six to come and share experiences with their Ugandan counterparts. The study tour on 25th and 26th September was focusing on enhancing institutional knowledge on public procurement management with particular emphasis on compliance monitoring and records management systems.

Mr. Timothy Kalembo (Assistant Director for Regulatory and Review) was leader of the delegation that included Miriam Salika -Mrs (Chief Monitoring Officer), Peter Makanga (Chief Professional Development Officer), Gerald Mabveka (Principal Monitoring Officer), George Chimphonda (Professional Development Officer) and Jonathan Samuel Kantayeni

Over the two days, the PPDA team shared experiences on PPDA Regulatory Framework and Compliance Monitoring Tools which covered procurement audits and investigations, compliance checks and the procurement performance measurement system (PPMS). They also shared knowledge on the contracts and records management system and the PPDA complaints handling mechanism.

Later the Malawi delegation met with staff at the Procurement Policy Unit – Ministry of Finance, Planning and Economic Development and those managing procurement at the Auditor General’s Office.

Marking 100+ years

When the Uganda Police Force marked the 100+ anniversary, PPDA was there to march with them all the way from Nsambya to Kyadondo Rugby grounds in Lugogo. This was during the launch of the “Criminal Case Management Rectification Campaign” by the Criminal Investigations and Intelligence Directorate (CIID).

After the march, PPDA joined other marching teams to participate in the exhibition, with our team being led by Executive Director, Ms. Cornelia K. Sabiiti.

CIID and the Police Force in general are close partners with PPDA in the fight against corruption. When PPDA investigations find fraud, forgery and other crimes in public procurement, the cases are passed on to CIID for further action.

So, there was every cause for the Authority to march CIID during the launch of the Criminal Case Management Rectification Campaign.

Top and right: PPDA staff march in the parade at the launch of the “Criminal Case Management Rectification Campaign”. The CIID launched this campaign as part of the celebrations to mark 108 years of the Uganda Police Force (1906-2014)

2. Selfie? Mary Akiror seems to be setting her phone camera to take a selfie with her colleagues at the Kyadondo Rugby grounds where an exhibition was held after the march.

The Institute of Procurement Professionals of Uganda (IPPU) is a professional body that serves procurement professionals in both the private and public sectors.

IPPU was formed because of the growing concern for an institutional self-regulating framework, which could ensure that practitioners conducted themselves professionally and maintain best procurement practises in their work.

IPPU Objectives

- Prescribe and regulate the practise and conduct of its members
- Build the Procurement and Supply Chain Management capacity of its members by helping procurement professionals to excel via practical skills development, career enhancement and networking opportunities;
- Admit members, give input in approving courses and to provide for the qualifications and registration of students of the Institute
- Ensure the maintenance of professional standards among members of the Institute
- Encourage research in procurement and Supply Chain Management and allied subjects, for the development of the Procurement profession in the country together with the competent authorities
- Regulate the conduct and promote good ethical standards and discipline of the members of the profession
